Mayor Interviewed On Stock In City

By Joe Pilot
There is an apparent division of opinion among the citizens of Bay St. Louis with regard to the enforcement of the stock law, a city ordinance enacted in 1938 and revised in 1968 which prohibits the keeping of live stock and fowls within the city limits.

In an attempt to clarify the issue, this reporter was granted an interview with Mayor Warren G. Carver who supplied answers to some perplexing questions.

Q. How is a city ordinance enforced?

A. The Mayor and City Commissioners write an ordinance when they believe it to be for the best interest and progress of the township. The ordinance is published and citizens have a right to voice a dissent. With no indication of dissent it is written into the code of city ordinances.

Q. When did the City of Bay St. Louis adopt a live-stock ordinance?

A. It was first adopted in 1938, and later revised in 1968.

Q. What is a "Grandfather's Clause"?

A. A Grandfather's clause would give special privileges to citizens having livestock prior to the enactment of the ordinance.

Q. Is there a Grandfather's clause to protect people residing in the newly acquired city property? For example, many people once living in the County are now within the city limits. They keep goats, cows, horses, pigs, chickens and ducks, etc. Are they permitted to legally keep this live stock since their property has been annexed into the City limits?

A. No, there is no Grandfather's clause on our records.

Q. The objections to live stock within the city limits include many points. One point being they create a breeding place for flies and mosquitoes. Who would be an authority on this objection?

A. The County Health Department should be called upon to make an inspection.

Q. Who is the County Health doctor for Bay St. Louis and its environs?

A. At this time we do not have a county health doctor. Once a week the county health doctor from Biloxi inspects this area.

Q. Is there an ordinance on our city books dealing with so called nuisances? That is with conditions offensive to sight and smell?

A. There is such an ordinance.

Q. Is there a provision for enforcement of these ordinances?

A. Yes, it is the duty of the police department.

Q. Should a driver of a car be injured, or should his property be damaged by hitting live stock roaming on the city streets in the City of Bay St. Louis, is the person responsible? That is, does the person involved have a right to sue the city for negligence?

A. I believe that question should be referred to the City Attorneys.

Q. I notice that race horses are exercised frequently on the street designated as Boulevard. This street is frequently scraped of the topsoil of the city to keep it in condition for traffic. Do you believe tax payers money should be spent for what, in effect, is keeping up an exercise track for privately owned race horses?

A. I believe if the citizens made an objection the owners of the horses would find an enclosure in which to exercise them.

Q. As you have a cattle confinement pen has been constructed within the City limits of Bay St. Louis. Have you heard any objections to this?

A. Three individuals have made complaints. I think the pen should have been built outside the City limits.

Q. Did the county pay for the stock pen?

A. I cannot honestly say who paid for it.

Q. What is your personal feeling about the keeping of live stock within the city limits?

A. There is always the problem of a child and his pet. It is hard to deprive children of the pleasures of childhood. Of course, objectionable animals like dogs are a different story.

Q. Do you notice that even pet horses tend to create breeding places for flies?

A. I can honestly say that I have never noticed it.

Affidavits on three separate counts were sworn out against Emilio Piazza, Hancock County coroner and ranger, an elected county official, on Tuesday by the Editor and Publisher of the Sea Coast Echo, Ed Hall, following an altercation occurring at 418 St. Charles Street in Bay St. Louis when News Editor, Jim Brown, was attempting to take a photo of a cow impounded within the city limits in the recently opened county stock pen.

Piazza pocket bonds amounting to $988 to insure his appearance in court. Trial is scheduled before Justice of the Peace, Forrest J. Noelske, in the Hancock County Court House at 7:00 p.m. on Tuesday, March 3. Justice Noelske charged Piazza with obstructing the coroner's duties, threatening the health and well-being of editor Brown, and enclosing a cow in a pen within the city limits. Piazza added: "Should the apportioned to Echo be required to pay a man jury, otherwise decision of the case will be made by me."

Waveland Will Re-align Wards

All members of the Waveland Town Council were present for the regular meeting Wednesday night February 18. The Council passed a resolution calling for a referendum election to be held to pass an amendment to the town's special charter redefining the boundaries of the wards located in the town.

Change in ward boundaries is needed to place named territory into a ward or wards of the town and to correct a possible imbalance of voters located within the wards of the community.

Mayor Warren Carver of Bay St. Louis appeared before the Board and discussed the feasibility of the cities of Waveland and Bay St. Louis joining forces in having one sewage disposal system and treatment plant which might be cheaper than for each municipality to have one.

Shirley Fred Curet spoke to the council relative to a curfew for all taverns in the county, Waveland and Bay St. Louis of the same hours. Presently the curfew is twelve o'clock P.M. in all areas plus one, two or three hours longer on Saturday night.

For better law enforcement the Sheriff proposed that all three areas have the same curfew on Saturdays. He also suggested that a patrol for enforcing the curfew on Saturdays to be composed of Bay St. Louis and Waveland police plus a sheriff's patrol working together.

J.D. McCullough, Superintendent of the Bay St. Louis Separate Municipal School District spoke to the Council relative to a new air-room school building for Waveland. In addition to federal aid for building such a school financial aid from both Waveland and Bay St. Louis would be needed.

Divorces

Divorce decrees granted during the first week of the February term of the Chancery Court were as follows:

Audrey Ballard Balli vs. Eleanor Balli; Betty G. Carco vs. Lawrence A. Carco; Mary M. Daye vs. Emmett Lee Daye; Pamela Ann Edwards vs. John Edwards; James E. George vs. Barbara S. George; Madeline Thomson Hamm vs. Marvinov Borman Hamm; Margaret Jane Horbort vs. William Louis Horbort Jr.

Martin E. Johnson vs. Melvin J. Johnson; Gloria Bourgeois Landels vs. Andrew Landels; Patricia J. Loggins vs. Larry Loggins; Rosemary R. McFarland vs. Wesley LeRoy McFarland; LeRoy Murray, Sr. vs. Frances Murray; Maudie J. Murray vs. Annette M. Murray; Patricia A. Nixson vs. David J. Nixson, Jr.

Major Vitor Clinton Phillips vs. Walter J. Phillips; Alice Carver Shumaker vs. William S. Shumaker; Clara Ruth Smith vs. Elwood Smith; Emma Louise Graham Smith vs. Perry George Smith; Robert L. Smith vs. Barbara J. Smith; Marjorie Mary Ann Gaudy Smith vs. Loris Graham Smith; Jean A. Chantrelle vs. Leroy Chantrelle.

The alleged ruckus occurred at about 8:30 a.m. on Tuesday when Brown drove down St. Charles Street in his light blue Mopar and got out of the car to take a picture of the animal that had been recently penned in the enclosure. Brown said he left his flashing lights on the car and as he focused his camera he heard shouting and obscenities as Piazza approached yelling: "Hey -- You -- what do you think you are doing?" At which point Piazza grabbed Brown's arm and tried to grab his camera. Brown stated he held tightly to his camera as Piazza pushed him against the car, asking "Who gave you permission to do that, boy? That's my property!" Brown answered he was on a public street taking a photograph for the ECHO. Piazza allegedly screamed further abusive language saying: "You talk that Sonofabitch, Ed Hall, that I will knock the P--s out of him". Brown stated that he fought Piazza away as best he could in an attempt to protect his camera, and that during the hassle Piazza said: "I am going to take this camera to the sheriff and you can get it from him." In the scuffle Brown managed to break Piazza's hold and get into his automobile, but not before he received a gash on his right wrist and bruises and scratches on his arm. He said he brought his equipment back to the Echo office and had the pictures of the penned up cow developed for use as planned. He received first aid treatment at the office while Hall telephoned Sheriff W. A. Curet, Chief of Police Robert Goodsell, and city Judge Joe Benvenuti also the company's attorney, Gerald Cox, in order to swear out affidavits. Hall also asked for legal protection since his health and welfare has for the second time been threatened by Piazza.

The Sea Coast Echo, a progressive weekly newspaper, has carried informative articles and pictures alerting the public to the fact that there is a great deal of live stock within the city limits of Bay St. Louis. The live stock has created complaints of varying degrees from citizens who are aware of unpleasant odors, health hazards, and fly and mosquito breeding connected with the animals. A picture was to be used in connection with a follow-up story in which the Sea Coast Echo had published a copy of the City Ordinance forbidding the keeping of live stock within the city limits of Bay St. Louis.

Few Disappointed As Hundreds Enthusiastically View Moon Rock

BY JOE FILET

Director of the "Tour to View the Moon Rock," Joe Schwing, said Sunday was a day when the moon rock was on display in the Mississippi Test Facility's Thursday through Sunday display of the moon rock and related subject matter. The Lunar Rock was displayed in the lobby of the Control Tower Building at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration facility on a revolving pedestal and highlighted by the use of magnifying glasses. The crowd moved along the viewing line at the rate of about nine or ten persons per minute. A clocking and counting at the door revealed an average of 25 persons came through the opening every five minutes.

Parading spots were consistently filled, and whole groups arrived by the busload. Very much on the scene were student groups in Keosauqua Air Force Base vehicles, school groups and scout groups. According to tour director Schwing, the schools within the area came in representative numbers on Saturday. There was a continual showing of moon landing movies and the MTF auditorium which has a seating capacity of 275 persons was filled with a new group every forty minutes and there were also standees toward the back of the room.

Interest in this lunar rock was not confined to any particular age group or social or business bracket. They came from all walks of life and from all ages from babies-in-arm to old men using walking canes to look and to marvel at the rock.

The rock within itself was occasion for an outburst and a bit of controversy among St. Paul's and East Christian students who hailed each other with greetings such as "Did you have a good time on the bus ride?"

Some small boys unable to grasp the significance of the rock, uttered voiced disappointment. One youngster who will be a very big man when he grows up -- that is, if he grows up to fit his two oversized front teeth -- said: "Shue! I have shot better looking rocks than THAT out of my sling shot." His sympathetic buddy replied: "Yeah, I have picked up better looking rocks than THAT out of the sling along the railroad tracks." Another member of the old-fashioned-on-the-way out of the model of an astronaut looked at it in his right hand and said: "I sure am glad I can get a space man. Boy all that stuff you have to put on would wear you out before you ever got started."

From the number of cameras on deck it would be fairly safe to bet that the Lunar Rock was the most frequently photographed article of the month. Shutter bugs took pictures of rock, of other shuttlecraft taking pictures of the rock, and of lines looking at the rock, the displays and models of Apollo 11 and 12.

Registration showed guests from such far away places as South Bend, Indiana, Topeka, Kansas, Grand Bay, Alabama and Laurel, Mississippi and Bogalusa, Louisiana to name a few. However, representation was in a sense far more cosmopolitan for Keosauqua Field students hail from Vietnam, the Far and middle East and throughout the United States. Students from England and Holland seemed especially responsive to the magnitude of the implications and goals of the United States Space Exhibit that will be a major attraction during Japan's Expo 70.

The rock within itself was occasion for an outburst and a bit of controversy among St. Paul's and East Christian students who hailed each other with greetings such as "Did you have a good time on the bus ride?"

It started with a sleek new shape and a low road-holding stance. And added more hood. A faster fastback. Wider wheels. And new deeply contoured bucket seats. With the instrument panel wraps around you. With high dials to make you think you're piloting a 747. There are four transmissions. And six power plants to choose from. New Camaro. The Super Hugger.

Other sportsters always feared it might come to this.

And they were right. Only their timing was wrong.

Fire Dept. Battles

3-Acre Forest Blaze

Fire fighters from the Bay St. Louis City Fire Department distinguished a raging woods fire that had ravaged about three acres of land before it was reported on Sunday afternoon.

The fire was on property opposite the Flamingo Restaurant on Highway 90. It was reported by an unidentified person to fireman Floyd Page around 8 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Fireman Page relayed by radio the location of the fire to Fire Chief Ladner who was at the time practicing fire drills with two of his men, Clyde Page and Larry Ladner. Chief Ladner said: "The fire must have been burning for quite a while before it was reported. We got there so fast as we could and believe we saved quite a number of trees. We will continue to practice and improve our efficiency every week." Chief Ladner said that citizens should report fires promptly and that telephone calls giving information concerning brush fires are welcomed.

MR. EDWARD FAYARD OF WAVELAND IS ALL SMILES AS HE ACCEPTS DELIVERY OF HIS 1970 NOVA 4-DOOR CHEVY FROM SALESMAN J. C. KOENEN OF LAMAR-LANE CHEVROLET, INC.

Mr. Edward Fayard of Waveland decided that it was time for him to buy a new car. He had been reading and hearing about all the good deals J.C. Koenen at Lamar-Lane Chevrolet gives his customers, so he paid him a visit. J.C. gave Mr. Fayard a very good deal on a Chevy Nova and he drove it home. Mr. Fayard is very happy with his new Nova for transportation to his job at Keesler where he is in charge of the Photo Lab. Mr. Fayard has a lot of competition for use of his new Nova, for his children like it very much and would like to have it all of the time. Mr. Fayard would like to recommend to all of his friends in need of a new car to visit Lamar-Lane Chevrolet and ask for his friend J. C. Koenen, he could save many dollars. LAMAR-LANE CHEVROLET, INC. ## Waveland Notes

Nino S. Garcia Phone 467-4433

The Waveland First Baptist Church, on Jeff Davis Ave., had only minor hurricane damage and that was quickly repaired. Under the guidance of Rev. Joe L. Hanson, Sunday services are held at 11 a.m. and 8:30 p.m. Sunday School for all ages starts at 9:45 a.m. and Wednesday evening prayer services are held at 8:30 p.m.

Waveland residents enjoyed a week end of peace and quiet. Town Marshal Fred Bourgeois reports no major crimes.

Tax payments are coming in to Waveland at a good pace. Summer residents who have lost all, or nearly all, are paying their taxes early to show their faith in the future of Waveland.

Mr. Raymond Talbot, of the Old Spanish Trail in Pensacola, Florida, where he and his fiancée, Mrs. Ida E. Causey, will be married Saturday, February 28th in the presence of Mrs. Causey's family and friends. Heartiest congratulations are extended to both.

Ground is being prepared for the construction of Frank Trapani's bigger and better Knock Knock Lounge, on the corner of Highway 90 and the entrance to Shoreline Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller, owners of The Texan Motel, are in the final stages of completing their new Chuck Wagon Cafe and the grand opening date will be announced soon.

Congratulations are due Mr. Harold Barnes of Shoreline Park, and his new bride, the former Mrs. Theresa Garcia of New Orleans. The ceremony took place Valentine's Day, in the Waveland First Baptist Church, Rev. Joe L. Hanson, officiating.

Miss Debbie LaFontaine is at present visiting her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Clay, in Hurt, Virginia. While there, Debbie is attending Hurt Senior High School.

Mr. and Mrs. Laverne Pahlmann's 6 acres Restaurant on Highway 90, Waveland, serves delicious meals with that home cooked taste. Sunday dinners are exceptionally good. Why don't you take the wife and kids there. Prices are very reasonable.

We drove out to Stennis Field Sunday and really enjoyed looking over the place. Wylie Hoath has a flying school, and the fees are not out of this world. Also half hour sight-seeing trips can be arranged. Bud Morris was there flying a Piper-Cub. Tommy Moran is an avid flying fan, as is his wife Gloria and all the Moran children, even down to the youngest baby, Dalton. Some will soon finish his instructions and solo.

Teenagers with a purpose in life can best describe the Candy Strippers at Hancock General Hospital. I am very proud of my daughter, Mary Green who began her instructions in the new class that started this past Saturday under the guidance of that gracious lady, Mrs. C.C. McDonald.

Mrs. Richard Garcia was discharged from Hancock General Feb. 23, after being a patient for a week with a relapse of the flu and other complications. The Garcia's own "Jenny's" nursery on Highway 90 and Main St. Ave., and will soon be able to have it open on a full time basis.

The Waveland Volunteer Fire Dept. had a nice weekend with only one call. A grass fire on Waveland Ave., which was quickly extinguished. For the next five weeks the very carefully trained crew will be on duty a lot of damage. The Waveland Fire Dept., headed by Chief Kenny Fayard, all are volunteer workers.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Brucelman of New Orleans came over to visit Mrs. Brucelman's daughter, Mrs. Richard Garcia while she was hospitalized.

While riding down the beach road towards Clarendon Harbor, a car was observed at the way trash and garbage are being dumped right on the side of the road. The county provides a huge dump in the rear of Jackson Ridge. How can anyone have such utter disregard for the appearance of the county, by dumping car carelessly.

Got well wishes to Miss Carol Dorman who is ill in Hancock General with pneumonia.

Bay Senior High is such a lovely school, large well lighted rooms, air conditioning, large gym, library, lunch room and a teaching staff that is of the highest quality.

Here is the school house of the "Good old days." The school house was only 18x24 feet built of logs, and roughly finished; at each end of the room there was a small window with 6 panes of glass. In the center stood a large, pot bellied stove. It was the duty of the boy students to arrive a little early, clean out the stove, and make the fire. An ax was kept handy for chopping fat wood and oak.

At one end of the room was the teacher's desk, on which lay several good sized rods of tough wood. These rods were for use, not ornaments. The school directors went on the theory, "Spare the rod, spoil the child." Seats were benches without backs, and were easily tipped over, causing no end of confusion; writing desks were long boards fastened to the walls around 3 sides of the room. The three R's were taught in small doses. Each student was required to bring a copy book, a spelling book, a small arithmetic and a copy of the New Testament. Most of the pupils walked as much as 3 or 4 miles to reach school, if you were quality folks, you might send your child to school on the back of a sway back mare. Lunch was usually a large cold biscuit, with a piece of fried salt meat and syrup. All carried in a little tin bucket. (From our "American Heritage" by John Newton Culbertson.

There is a very interesting article in the Down South Magazine, telling of the finding of a number of skeletons in Biloxi, they show date back to the 1700's. You can get a free copy of this book at the R.E.A. office. It also shows the progress in re-building and tells you of all the gourmet eating places, places of entertainment, etc.

Miller's Holds Mardi Gras Fest

Miller's Social Club held its annual Mardi Gras party last week in Bay St. Louis, for members and their families. Awards were presented to the best designed and funniest costumes in the adult class, and in the children's class. Winner of the first prize trophy was Davis Anderson of Waveland, dressed as "Tiny Tim".

Second prize winner was Gregory Alan Lott, eight years old, of Bayside Park, dressed as "Josephine". Judging the contest was Leonard Strong, Mrs. Gloria Morgan, and Mrs. Lee Dupuy. A large crowd attended the festivities, and appeared to have a very enjoyable time.

Meeting Held By Waveland Homemakers

Waveland Homemakers Extension Club met last Tuesday in the home of Mrs. E. T. Bruceland with Mrs. Edward LeVasseur, president, conducting the business session and Mrs. Bruceland offering the devotional. Ways of increasing the club's budget were discussed and members voted to make each donation in lieu of calling women home.

Mrs. LeVasseur stated a workshop was scheduled for Wednesday at the Agricultural Center.

The dues price was set by Mrs. Maurice Gormon.

The next meeting will be held March in the home of Mrs. Gormon.

RETURN FROM VIETNAM

Navy Bridge William P. Francis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel G. Francis of 181 LeBlanc Drive, Waveland, Miss., returned to Gulfport, Miss., with U.S. Naval Mobile Construction Battalion 128 from the battalion's third tour of duty in Vietnam. While serving in the five southern provinces of South Vietnam the "Battalion" of his battalion provided engineering and construction support to U. S. and Allied forces.

Mr. and Mrs. Willie Joe Davis had been looking around for a new car but couldn't find anything to suit them. Several of their friends have bought cars from Herb Baron, salesman at Lamar-Lane Chevrolet and suggested that they go and see him. They talked to Herb at Lamar-Lane and he gave them a Lamar-Lane price on an Impala Sport Coupe that was a money saver and it was just the car they had been looking all over for but couldn't find until they visited Lamar-Lane Chevrolet and Herb Baron. Mr. and Mrs. Davis are very happy that they visited Lamar-Lane Chevrolet and they recommend Mr. Baron highly to all of their friends thinking about buying a car. If you're thinking about buying a car or truck, visit Lamar-Lane Chevrolet and ask for Herb Baron, he could save you many dollars. LAMAR-LANE CHEVROLET, INC., MR.
